The College of Continuing Education of University of Shanghai for Science and Technology began in the early days of liberation. In 1988, it was approved to formally establish the College of Continuing Education to manage and carry out the adult education of USST. Over the years, the College of Continuing Education has followed the motto of "Sincerity, Diligence, and Learning", with the aim of "relying on the university to serve the society, basing itself on Shanghai to serve the whole country". According to the characteristics of adult education, relying on the academic advantages and richness of USST educational resources, College of Continuing Education has established a multi-level and multi-disciplinary adult higher education system, and strive to cultivate high-quality engineering, application-oriented and management-oriented talents with international vision and innovative capabilities.

In recent years, through continuous exploration, the college has clearly defined the main points of work, mainly related to the following five aspects: 1) In academic education, the college pursues "cultivating people-oriented characteristics"; 2) non-academic education "focuses on quality tree brand"; 3) college construction "sound system and harmony"; 4) student cultivation emphasizes "learning for progress"; 5) research and exchange attaches importance to "exploit innovation to promote development". The College is committed to focus on these five aspects and carry out its task in a comprehensive manner.
